Townsite Survey? Hearing Here Soon

Hearing Will Be Held At Wrangell Late In December

W. J. Lewis returned from Ketchikan on the Humboldt and is making preparations for the hearing in the Wrangell Townsite Survey which is to be held here late in December. No testimony was taken in the hearing at Ketchikan.

Government surveyor, Warner, has been checking up the work of the Whitfields and it is expected that after the hearing the matter will be settled definitely.

Social Dance

The Arctic Brotherhood are making preparations for a dance next Saturday evening at Red Men's Hall. As this is the first of the Holiday dances every one should attend. Dancing from 8:30 to 12. Admission, Gentlemen 50c, Ladies Free.

Capacity Enrollment Sitka School

E. G. Bridgman, Supt. Sheldon-Jackson school for natives, at Sitka, informs local Presbyterians that the school has capacity enrollment and that no more pupils can be taken in this year.

THADDEUS W. WIGG

Thaddeus W. Wigg, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wigg, was born in Ketchikan, Alaska, August 7th 1900. Afflicted with a weak heart, for several months he has been bravely fighting for life but steadily growing weaker until on Thursday morning at 10 A. M. he passed from the cares of this world.

The funeral was held in the Catholic Church, P. C. McCormack reading the services. The body was laid away in a private burial ground north of town.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

Wrangell Shows Greatest Variety

Alaska Exhibit at North- western Land Products Show St. Paul, Minn.

In an article in the St. Paul Pioneer Press headed, "Alaska A Berryland", the Wrangell exhibit of fruit contributed by Mrs. M. Linheart and Mrs. Horgheim, of Wrangell has the distinction of being the "greatest variety shown in the Alaska Exhibit." The article goes on "The exhibit represents nearly every variety grown in the gardens of the Northern States, most of them the wild varieties, for the fruit cultivated in the Northern States are wild in Alaska wild strawberries, wild red raspberries, wild gooseberries, wild currants of three varieties, and wild crabapples, as well as the species usually found wild here, such as huckleberries of five or six kinds, cranberries of three kinds, salmon berries of three kinds, and in addition, others not known here, as the nagoonberry, the yellow cloud or swampberry, the blueberry and several kinds of moss berries. The cultivated strawberry, gooseberry and currants are unexcelled, so you may see, strawberries, both the cultivated and the wild, also cultivated currants and gooseberries and more than a dozen other varieties of fruit from the land which is generally presumed only to produce gold, seal oil and icebergs."

The now famous Alaska Exhibit which was gathered by C. L. Andrews was first exhibited at Madison Square Garden, New York City, in November and is now on exhibition at St. Paul, Minnesota, at Northwestern Land Products show.

Rink Looks Good

The new roller rink has assumed quite a different "look" the last few days. The roof is sheathed and ready for the shingles.

When the building is finished it will enlarge the possibilities for such sports as polo, basketball and indoor baseball.

Turkey Shoot

Another shooting match was held this afternoon at the rink. Ten turkeys were offered as prizes, N. L. Moen having that number left from the Thanksgiving match which was stopped by the weather man.

Its Advantages.
Scene—Train stopping at small station. Irritable Old Gentleman—What on earth do they stop at a station like this for? Objectionable Passenger (alighting)—To allow me to get out. Irritable Old Gentleman—Ah! I see it has its advantages then.

Gilbert and Sullivan.

Questions have often been asked as to the real cause of the difference between Gilbert and Sullivan at one time, and many erroneous statements have been made on the subject. The truth is very simple and commonplace. Gilbert objected to the proposal of Mr. D'Oyley Carte to include the sum of £1,500 for refurbishing the front of the Savoy theater in the preliminary expenses of the production of "The Gondoliers." Sullivan did not support him in the way he thought he should, and for a time a coolness between them resulted. It was, however, always a matter of the greatest satisfaction to Gilbert that he and Sullivan were the best of friends again before the latter died.—Westminster Gazette.

Shuts Down For Repairs

Early Start And Long Run Is Predicted For The Next Season

After one of the longest runs in many years, the Wrangell Sawmill shut down for repairs last Saturday. The repair work will take about a month to complete and the mill will begin on the 1912 cut which is expected to be a record breaker, one order alone for the Point Ward Packing Company being for 800,000 feet.

Out Early In The Year

There is every likelihood that the steamer Al-Ki will be out of Seattle on the Southeastern Alaska run early in the New Year, probably about the middle of January. H. C. Strong of the Northland company will leave for Seattle shortly to assist in the making of the schedule for the new boat.—Ketchikan Miner.

Merry Christmas.

It looks as though St. Nicholas must use an aeroplane this year—or a gasboat.

We sometimes doubt that we have a townsite survey but hope to have one before another Merry Christmas day.

Snow, imported from Seattle for Christmas decorations is again necessity.

When you have thought out the value of a Chinese Revolutionary Government $100, note have you not made your estimate of the Government itself?

GOOD ACTIONS.

Every good act is charity. Giving water to the thirsty is charity. Removing stones and thorns from the road is charity. Exhorting your fellow men to virtuous deeds is charity. Smiling in your brother's face is charity. Putting a wanderer in the right path is charity. A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies mortals will ask what property has he left behind him, but angels will inquire, "What good deeds hast thou sent before thee?"—Mohammed.

Disgusted.

Thief (who has snatched a lady's bag)—Two transfers, a powder puff, a recipe for head wash and a sample of silk! An' I ran two miles wid it! I'm agin votes for women!—Puck.

SALE OF TIMBER. Ketchikan, Alaska, November 22, 1911. Sealed bids marked outside, "Bid, Timber sale, General Notice Nov. 20 1911, Tongass." And addressed to the Forest Supervisor, Forest Service, Ketchikan, Alaska, will be received up to and including the 30th day of December, 1911, for all the merchantable dead timber, standing or down, and all the live timber, marked or otherwise designated for cutting by the Forest officer, located on an area to be definitely designated by the Forest officer before cutting begins, on the shores of Castle Creek Duncan Canal, Kupreanof Island, and within the Tongass National Forest, Alaska, estimated to be 1,102,000 feet B. M. Sitka spruce and Western hemlock sawtimber. No bid of less than $1.00 per thousand feet B. M. will be considered and a deposit of $200.00 must be sent to C. T. Gardner, Special Fiscal Agent, Forest Service, Ketchikan, Alaska, for each bid submitted to the Supervisor. Timber on valid claims is exempted from sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. For further information and regulations governing sales address Forest Supervisor, Ketchikan, Alaska.

Funny in the Wrong Place.

That Prussian police officials are devoid of humor is the firmly rooted opinion of a traveler for a Berlin cotton firm. His business took him to the little town of Nordenburg. When the hotel register was placed before him he filled in the various columns and when he came to "Aim of the Journey" he wrote, "The wide, wide world." Fourteen days later he was charged with having committed a public outrage, for which he was fined six marks, one day's imprisonment being the alternative.

The Cold Shoulder.

Miss Bronson, a very charming young woman of Oak Lane, is being visited by an English cousin, who is charming enough, but not especially brilliant. They were in a party of friends the other evening discussing attitudes toward persons.

"I don't believe in giving the cold shoulder to any one," announced a Philadelphia girl, with emphasis.

"Oh, my dear," interrupted the fair English maid, "the cold shoulder, properly garnished, is very good. I am very fond of it."—Philadelphia Times.

Problem of the Electric Eel.

Invention during the next two or three centuries will probably be in the direction of imitating the wonderful economy and the simple direct methods of nature, says Professor John G. McKendrick. Take the electric eel. Its electric organ is in no sense a storage battery, but a contrivance by which electric energy is liberated at the moment when it is required. At rest the organ shows so small an electromotive force that a good galvanometer is required to detect it, but a sudden nervous impulse from the eel's spinal cord raises a potential of many volts with very little heat and so small an expenditure of matter as to defy the most expert chemist to weigh it.

The English Barber.

I grumble because it is impossible to get a comfortable hair cut or shave in Manchester and because the majority of barbers there are uncivilized, says a writer in M. A. P., London. A visit even to the best barbers' shops at present means half an hour of misery. The barber's breathing on my neck no longer annoys me; I have got used to it. But I was quite surprised when last week the man who was attending to me abstracted pieces of cake from his pocket every now and again and let his crumbs fall down my back. I am waiting for some enterprising hair cutter to open a few decent shops where the assistants are at least clean and where they are under some sort of discipline.

Taxing Death.

They have queer ways of doing things in Mexico, as most observers are aware by this time, but the fact that they virtually impose a tax on death is perhaps not generally known. To illustrate, a young American was drowned in the Rio Grande, and his body drifted down the river, lodging finally on the Mexican side. When the relatives came to claim the body they were received with the utmost courtesy, but were somewhat amazed when informed that the remains could not be sent out of the country except upon the payment of a tax of $120, that being the law in such case made and provided. The moral, if there be any, asserts the New York Mail, is this: Don't die in Mexico.

The Urgent Need.

She (flattering with eyes and voice)—Arthur, dear, I find that we still need a few things to make our little household more serviceable. He—What one thing, perhaps? She—Well, for instance, we need a new hat for me.—Harper's Bazar.

Gilbertian Wit.
Once Sir W. S. Gilbert was standing in front of his club, absentmindedly staring out at the line of vehicles by the sidewalk, when a pompous member strolled out and, without glancing at Gilbert, said to him:
"A cab, my good man; call me a cab."
"You are a cab," Gilbert answered solemnly.
"The flustered member looked about suddenly and did not recognize the writer, but he did demand of him on what grounds he was insolent enough to call him a cab."
"You asked me to," Gilbert responded, "and you certainly could not have expected me to call you handsome."

MEN WITHOUT PRICE.

To say that every man has his price is a vile slander. To say that is to deny the existence of the great men who have died for their faith and their country. Nonsense! 'Tis the last plea of a knave and issues out of the mouth of a fool. The sterling strength of man and woman rebukes it everywhere.

Circus Bareback Riders.

The career of a bareback rider with a circus is limited to about ten years.
 It is short not so much because these men and women lose their agility, but because they lose their nerve. The tension and application are so strained and marked that it is only a few riders who are able to perform their startling feats more than a decade.
 Recklessness and daring die when youth ripens into age, and as all riders, as a rule, marry young added responsibilities, coupled with a lively sense of danger, cause them to retire or else seek some less strenuous life. These riders are well paid, the majority of them commanding from $150 to $250 a week.—Jamestown Post.

Pleasant For Shaw.

Ford Madox Hueffer, in his "Memories and Impressions," says that on his first coming to London Bernard Shaw wrote a pamphlet called "Why I Am an Anarchist," which was published at the Torch press. "Some time later," relates Mr. Hueffer, "when Mr. Shaw, having advanced a stage further toward his intellectual salvation, was addressing in the park
 a Socialist gathering on the tiresome text, 'The Foolishness of Anarchism,' the young proprietors of the Torch walked round and round in the outskirts of the crowd offering copies of Mr. Shaw's earlier pamphlet for sale and exclaiming at the top of their voices, 'Why I Am an Anarchist! By the Lecturer!'"
